THE SYMPATHY COLLECTION 2012

THE SYMPATHY COLLECTION

Introducing the updated 1-800-FLOWERS.COM® 2012 Sympathy Design Resource Guide

Through professional design and hand delivery of flowers, Florists have the unique opportunity to connect with customers and provide them comfort in a critical time of need. In today's landscape, expressions of sympathy continue to change and provide one of the most critical areas of growth and profitability for retail Florists.

In an effort to better meet our mutual customer expectations and improve the overall customer experience for sympathy customers, we are delighted to provide you with the updated 1-800-FLOWERS.COM®2012 Sympathy Design Resource Guide.

Helping to ensure our mutual success!

We continue to listen closely to the feedback from our Florists, customers and industry experts.

To further enhance understanding of the Sympathy and Remembrance marketplace, 1-800-FLOWERS.COM has become involved with the National Funeral Director's Association (NFDA) and the International Cemetery, Cremation and Funeral Association (ICCF) – leading workshops, delivering keynote speeches and spending time with industry professionals.

Designs that can be recreated with ease.

We have taken all of the feedback and industry knowledge and updated our Sympathy Collection. The Collection includes floral arrangements that can be consistently recreated with ease, and utilize fresh flowers and sympathy floral supplies that are readily available throughout the year and across the country from your local wholesaler or BloomNet Products.

Latest sympathy flower trends

Personalization is a key trend in Sympathy flowers and allows families and friends a wonderful way to pay tribute to a loved one. Color is a key element of personalization and one of the easiest and least labor intensive ways to meet customer expectations. The updated 2012 Sympathy Collection Design Resource Guide provides a vast assortment of best-selling Sympathy products, organized by color sections, and includes a beautiful Sympathy Collection vignette. We have also added products specifically for Sympathy for the Home, Remembrance and Cremation.

Dedicated Sympathy Customer Service Team

Current trends have shown shorter viewing times for funeral services and a continued demand for labor intense funeral flowers such as Caskets and Standing Sprays. To help us provide the best possible customer experience, 1-800-FLOWERS.COM has a dedicated Sympathy Customer Service Team. When consumers visit the Sympathy Collection, they are requested to call a Specialty Sympathy Advisor at our dedicated toll free number to allow us to provide priority service and special handling for time sensitive orders.

We are continuing to work hard to stay top-of-mind with consumers, increase orders into shops and help make the fulfillment of 1-800-FLOWERS.COM orders easy and profitable. Thank you for your continued dedication especially for this most sensitive and important occasion.

Selling Tips

We hope that you will also utilize the NEW 2011 Sympathy Collection to help increase your retail Sympathy business. Here are few helpful tips to consider...

- Offer side sympathy arrangements that coordinate with the Casket Spray or Urn design
- Flowers aren't just for the funeral home and church services. Designs should also be offered that can be transported to the home, a reception or another memorial site.
- Combine fresh flowers with potted plants to offer a take home memento for the family

Sympathy Etiquette

- Send floral baskets or living plants when the sender has a closer relationship to the bereaved than to the deceased.
- Sympathy baskets are appropriate when sent by family, or those who had a deeper or formal relationship with the deceased.
- Floral wreaths, crosses, and sprays are appropriate when sent by anyone other than those not acquainted with the deceased.
- Young children, or grandchildren of the deceased, honor them with lid arrangements
- Casket covers are reserved for family members.
- It's appropriate to send brightly-colored flowers for a funeral because it can reflect on the energetic personality of the deceased.
- Tributes are generally chosen by good friends or family members. Also appropriate when given by anyone in the case of cremation.
- In the case of cremation and there's a memorial service, send an all-occasion floral basket.
- It is acceptable to send flowers in a glass vase to a funeral home.
- Sending flowers as a group is a good idea because it can be that much more special.
- Floral honors are always appreciated, no matter when they are received.

10 Tips for working with Funeral Directors

1. Use only your freshest flowers- Arrangements must stand in room temperature for as long as 48 hours until service is over.
2. Don't be a drip- Designs created in floral foam should be set upright for a few hours so excess water can be eliminated before going to the funeral home.
3. Create balanced designs- Make certain that all your floral designs, including easels are stable and will sit and stand securely.
4. Eliminate exposed sharp points- Make sure that sharp picks or wire ends are not exposed.
5. Learn hearse dimensions- Make sure to not create casket sprays that are too high or mounded to avoid.
6. Consider size- Excessively large floral pieces are often difficult to display whereas smaller pieces can be displayed and/or taken home.
7. Notify funeral directors of unusual designs- Inform them ahead of time of sympathy pieces that might need special care or other accommodations.
8. Deliver early- Make sure to deliver flowers to funeral homes or service sites at least two hours before the families are scheduled to be there.
9. Make the call- If you need to make a late-evening delivery the night before a service, call ahead.
10. Be courteous- Funeral directors will always appreciate your willingness to help them better serve their clients.
